YOUR 16 BIGGEST ENERGY DRAINS ZAPPING YOUR HEALTH, WELLNESS AND HAPPINESS

Great to connect with you and thanks for allowing me to give you some of my information. I know there are lots of websites you could be visiting so whatever it was that brought you here and had you look into mine more deeply, I don't take that lightly. You have my promise that I'll do all I can to ensure your time is well spent.

If you want to know who wrote all this stuff you're about to read, here's some info about me. If you'd rather skip it, just jump right over it to the next section.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dr. Debi Silber, President/CEO of Debi Silber Companies, LLC. and founder of www.PBTInstitute.com is a Transformational Psychologist, a recognized health, mindset, empowerment and personal development expert. She's a speaker, coach and author of the Amazon #1 Bestselling book: The Unshakable Woman: 4 Steps to Rebuilding Your Body, Mind and Life After a Life Crisis, The Unshakable Woman-The Workbook (the companion guide to the book) as well as 2 books recommended by Brian Tracy, Marshall Goldsmith, Jack Canfield and many more. Debi's contributed to FOX, CBS, The Dr. Oz show, TEDx, The Huffington Post, Shape, Self, Health, Working Mother, Forbes, Psychology Today, WebMD, Yahoo Shine, Ladies Home Journal, MSN, Woman's World and Glamour to name a few. After researching and conducting a PhD study on how women experience betrayal from a family member or partner, Debi has discovered a predictable and proven process taking women from betrayal to breakthrough. That process, coupled with 27 years of health, mindset and personal development training and coaching, enabled her to create a multi-pronged approach to help people heal (physically, mentally, emotionally, psychologically and spiritually) from the trauma of betrayal.

YOUR 16 BIGGEST ENERGY DRAINS ZAPPING YOUR HEALTH, WELLNESS AND HAPPINESS

The easiest way to explain this is with a visual so picture these two images...

Imagine a big bowl. Now imagine somehow being able to take 100% of your energy, and put it into that bowl. Can you imagine how powerful and potent your bowl of energy would be? With all that energy at your disposal, you can only imagine how much power you'd have to be effective and impactful in the areas of life that matter most.

Now picture a colander, a sieve, the bowl with the holes in it. Imagine putting 100% of your energy in that colander. With all those holes, your energy simply can't be retained and regardless of how hard you try, it would take so much more effort to make any impact at all. While the effort, desire and motivation may be there, each hole contributes to what adds up to being a huge energy drain; leaking a tremendous amount of precious energy that's needed for you to look, feel and live your best. Even with lots of effort it would feel as if you're swimming upstream.

These energy drains slowly chip away at your confidence and self-esteem because...

- You're trying your best but you're stressed, anxious, worried and overwhelmed
- You want to be healthy, but you're just too tired to exercise
- You want to eat well but it's too hard to make all those healthy choices
- You want to do a good job in your work or business but you can't seem to catch up or get ahead
- You want to be a good partner, parent, child, coworker, leader, friend but you just don't have the energy and patience you need because you feel pulled in so many directions
- You want to feel confident and in control, but it feels like you're playing one big game of "whack-a-mole" where you handle one area, only to turn and see another area that needs your attention pop up.

These drains are affecting every area of life from your mindset, to your health, relationships, work and so much more and for some reason, although you keep trying, you find that you're just not getting a break or seeing much progress. You may be self-sabotaging and even though you're giving it your best, something seems to knock you off track and it gets harder and harder to get back on. On top of that, you're getting frustrated and discouraged. You want some answers, you want a plan and you want to feel as if you're back in control so you can stop this downward spiral that's making you feel overwhelmed and unhappy.

So what are these areas that are draining your energy? We can't change what we're not aware of so here are 16 of the biggest energy drains to take note of. See which ones are affecting you.

NUTRITION: If you're eating foods that are causing weight gain, inflammation, gut issues, brain fog, food addictions and illness, if you have a dysfunctional relationship with food, if you're a binge, mindless, social or emotional eater, if dieting has become a way of life, and if your weight is impacting your confidence and energy...that's a huge energy drain.

FITNESS: If you're not exercising or exercising in a way that's not aligned with your "fitness personality" (yep, you have one), if your fitness routine isn't challenging or is unsafe, if it's not the right program based on your current fitness level, health, needs and goals...that's a huge energy drain.

MINDSET: If you have a mindset that's keeping you safe, stuck and small, if your beliefs are coming from a place of scarcity and lack versus abundance, if you believe there's a limit on how much money, love, health, joy and abundance you can have or deserve, if you're unwilling or if you believe you can't change...that's a huge energy drain.

RELATIONSHIPS: If you're spending time with people who are negative, critical, judgmental and pessimistic, if you spend time with energy vampires, those who feel threatened, jealous, angry or insecure when you shine, or if your relationships hold you back from being, doing and having more...that's a huge energy drain.

STRESS: If you're overwhelmed and you're starting to notice stress related symptoms like accelerated aging, less patience, low libido, fatigue, sleeplessness, irritability, weight gain, slow wound healing, hormonal changes, pain, chronic illness and more...that's a huge energy drain.

FEELING UNFULFILLED: If your work is only a means to a paycheck, if you're not serving your community or those in need in some way, if you're not giving your time, attention or energy to something that fills and feeds your soul...that's a huge energy drain.

NOT GROWING/EVOLVING: If you don't learn anything new, if you don't challenge yourself, if you've stopped being curious, if life is completely on auto-pilot from the minute you wake up to the moment you go to sleep, and if you've stopped learning or growing mentally, emotionally, psychologically or spiritually...that's a huge energy drain.

WORK/LIFE BALANCE, PERFECTIONISM: If you're striving to achieve work/life balance, believing that your time can be divided evenly among all of the many roles you play each day, if you're striving to do it all and do it all perfectly, shifting between your roles of Wonder Woman and Supermom in all areas of life...that's a huge energy drain.

TOXINS: If the foods you're choosing are filled with added colors and preservatives, and if the cleaning and beauty products you're using are filled with chemicals...that's a huge energy drain.

NO DAILY PRACTICE: If the alarm rings and it's full speed ahead without at least a few minutes to check in, breathe, be grateful, journal, meditate or whatever centers and prepares you for your day ahead...that's a huge energy drain.

POOR SLEEP: If you're not getting deep, restorative and quality sleep, if you don't have a sleep routine that helps you unwind, and if your sleep environment is cluttered, stimulating and not conducive to a restful night...that's a huge energy drain.

NOT CONNECTING WITH NATURE: If you're spending the majority of your time indoors with fluorescent lighting and no windows, if you're not spending any time breathing fresh air, being in a natural environment you find soothing (such as your backyard, the beach, nature trails, mountains, etc.), if you're not seeing grass, trees, flowers, mountains, plants, water, animals, insects, etc., and if you're not exposed to sounds of nature like birds, wind, water, or any other natural sounds that soothe you...that's a huge energy drain.

FEELING ISOLATED/DISCONNECTED/ALONE: If you don't feel safe, supported or loved, if you feel isolated, separate and alone from a sense of community, or if you don't feel a connection to something bigger than you...that's a huge energy drain.

A LIFE CRISIS: If you've been hit with a life crisis, such as an illness, the death of a loved one, a betrayal, abuse, a financial crisis or something that creates a huge physical/mental/emotional/psychological/spiritual disruption in your life...that's a huge energy drain.

FINANCES: If you're drowning in debt, if your bills are out of control, you're spending more than you have, and you don't have or feel comfortable with a plan to dig yourself out of a financial hole you're finding yourself in...that's a huge energy drain.

A MIDLIFE CRISIS: If you're numbing or distracting yourself with food, drugs, work, alcohol, TV or by keeping busy because what used to work for you just isn't working anymore, if there's a growing sense of unease that's getting too big to ignore, if the stakes keep getting bigger and bigger in order for you to feel the same "high" ...that's a huge energy drain.

With all these energy drains many of us are walking around at about a 50% energy level. Yet, here's what I find so amazing. Look what you can do in spite of them? So my question is this. What would happen if you started plugging up some of those holes? Just imagine how you'd show up then.

So where do you start?

Take a look at the 16 energy drains above. While you may feel you need to plug up lots of areas, just start with one, possibly the one where you can make a few tweaks and see some progress right away. Does that mean preplanning some healthier meals? Taking out that journal and committing to writing in it every day? Making sure you're in bed by 10pm? Any change you make can only take you in one of two directions: further or closer to the body, health, life and lifestyle you want most. These changes don't have to be huge quantum leaps. In fact, it's the small, seemingly insignificant daily actions over time that yield big results. So which area will you start with so you can start to plug up some of those holes? Let's commit to it here:

I, _____, make a commitment to myself to choose one of the areas above as a starting point to greater health, well being and happiness. I will begin with one area as I slowly work towards becoming my physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual best.

Great job! Now of course, I'm here to help. Working with thousands of clients for over 25 years, and struggling with every one of those energy drains myself, I've found some simple ways to make things work, plus some creative and proven ways to bounce back when life hits you hard.

If you'd like to discuss if and how I can help you, just click this link to schedule a call with me <http://meetme.so/DebiSilber>.

One more gift. Since studies find that what we track and measure improves, I want to give you something else too. Here's your "Energy Drain Tracker" below to start becoming more aware of the areas that need your attention. I'd suggest you print it out so you can make copies and use it each week. Give it a try and see how your numbers slowly begin to improve. Of course, if you need some help creating a plan to make it all work a little better, let me know!

To becoming unshakable,

THE ENERGY DRAIN TRACKER

On a scale of 0-10, 0 meaning no effort and 10 meaning maximum effort, rate the effort you put into each category every day. Then add up your total daily score.

- A total daily score of 0-52 means: low effort.
- A total daily score of 53-107 means good effort.
- A total score of 108-160 means great job!

Strive for daily progress!
